The Giants Introduce . . .

PITCHERS

JOHN FITZGERALD . . . A power throwing lefthander out of Brooklyn, N. Y. From time to time his exceptional pitching equipment has made extravagant promises, but his career has had several interruptions, first by recurring injuries and ailments, and then by two years of Army service. Was released from the service in time to report to the Giants late last season, and started the final game of the campaign against the Cardinals. Because of the lack of previous work he was permitted to pitch only three innings on that occasion allowing one hit and one run, while striking out three. Was a strikeout specialist through his minor league career.

FRANK FUNK . . . This 23-year-old righthander from Bethesda, Md., has been pitching in the Giant organization since 1955, when he won eighteen games for St. Cloud of the Northern League on his first try. Worked through the organization to Corpus Christi of the Texas League where last summer he compiled an exceptional relief pitching record. His game-saving performances there commanded the attention of the Giants' scouts and won promotion to the majors. He won 14 games for Corpus Christi, allowing only 113 hits in 149 innings while striking out 105. He is credited with an exceptional fast ball.

MARSHALL RENFROE . . . A 22-year-old lefthander who has jumped from the Class B Danville Club to the Giants on the strength of a phenomenal strikeout record. At Danville he struck out 203 hitters in 204 innings while allowing only 160 hits. His Earned Run average was 2.63. A native of Gulf Breeze, Fla., Renfroe was acquired originally upon the recommendation of Scout

The Giants Introduce . . .

"Buddy" Kerr. Most of his career has been spent in the lower minors (as might be suggested by his age) but his strikeout figures have always been compelling. Pitching 689 innings over five seasons he struck out 707 hitters, and permitted only 586 hits.

JOE SHIPLEY . . . A "major league arm" is the tag attached to this willowy, 23-year-old righthander, who throws a side arm fast ball, and was the most devastating relief pitcher in the Pacific Coast League last summer. San Francisco baseball writers saw him briefly last summer, after his fast start at Phoenix, but arm trouble impaired his effectiveness. Upon his return to Phoenix he regained full command of his overpowering equipment, and compiled an Earned Run record of 2.45, while winning five and losing two in relief roles. He permitted only 68 hits in 92 innings. Earlier in his career, faulty control was a deterrent, but his Phoenix records indicate marked improvement in this department also. During the past winter he was in service on National Guard duty, but he is expected to return to the club soon after the start of spring training.

DOM ZANNI . . . A fast ball throwing product of the Giants' farm organization, is this 26-year-old righthander from New York City, who was the most effective member of the Phoenix (Pacific Coast League) pitching staff last season and won his only major league game when he reported in San Francisco late last September. For the Phoenix Club he was the workhorse of the staff. He appeared in 34 games, thirteen of them complete. He won 14, lost 11, with an Earned Run average of 3.67. Originally a New York sandlot prospect he has been in the Giant organization since 1951. In recent years he has done well in the higher minors, and all scouting reports tab him as now thoroughly seasoned.

CATCHERS

ROGER McCARDELL . . . Back with the Giants for another try, after a fine season at Phoenix in the Coast League, and Springfield in the Eastern. Was the Eastern League's top hitter for most of the season and finished with a mark of .310. An authoritative bat has been his recommendation through all of his minor league career, most of which was spent in the Milwaukee Braves' organization. Was drafted for the Giants' Sioux City Club for the 1957 season. Was at spring training with the Giants in 1958, and attracted attention with two home runs in one of the games against Cleveland.

AL STIEGLITZ . . . A husky 25-year-old catcher who has come up through the Giants' minor league organization, with time out for Navy service. Enjoyed a fine season at Corpus Christi in the Texas League last year (his first season, after two years in the service) where he hit .296 and whacked 10 homers. Regarded as prospect almost since the beginning of his professional career at Pauls Valley, Okla., in 1953. Received a special accolade in 1954, when as a member of the Danville Club he received special recognition in an "Omnibus" Television feature program, "as the player in the lower minors most likely to attain major league stature." A big man, a clever receiver, and a definite hitting prospect off all his minor league records.

INFIELDERS

ANDRE RODGERS . . . One of the most talked about youngsters of recent seasons is this king sized, cricket playing shortstop who led the Pacific Coast League in hitting last year. As a youthful prodigy, after only a couple of years in the lower minors, he was brought to the Polo Grounds in 1957 to open the National League campaign as the Giants' shortstop. When his lack of experience imposed handicaps he was asked to play one more year in the minors. At Phoenix last year he went all the way; led the league in hitting at .355 and whacked 31 home runs. He will be a strong candidate for the regular shortstopping job at Seals Stadium this year. A native of Nassau in the Bahamas, Rodgers has an unusual baseball background. As a youngster his game was cricket—one of the best players the islands have produced—and he never had a baseball in his hands until his later high school days. Granted a tryout at the Melbourne training camp in the spring of 1954 he was given a contract at Olean for that season. Since then he has played at St. Cloud, Dallas, Minneapolis and Phoenix, as well as in New York and San Francisco.

The Giants Introduce . . .

WILLIE McCOVEY . . . A tall, willowy, 21-year-old first baseman, who has attracted attention to his major league potential through all the four years of his minor league career in the Giants' organization. A very stylish fielder, his record also points him out as an exceptional hitting prospect. Starting at Sandersville, Ga., in 1955 he has moved right on through the Giant system, via Danville, Dallas and Phoenix. In many respects his 1958 record, at Phoenix, was his best. He hit .319 and knocked in 89 runs. Not noteworthily a long ball hitter, he has power when he "pulls" the ball. In the other departments he has a high flight of running speed to go along with his stylish action.

JOSE PAGAN . . . A native Puerto Rican, this 23-year-old infielder has come fast through the Giants' minor league organization. He started with the Class D Eldorado Club in 1953, but during the last two seasons has played at Springfield in the Eastern League. Scouting reports tab him as the player "who made the biggest improvement" in the past year. He hit .298 at Springfield last year, and played brilliantly afield, at his regular third base post and also at shortstop and second base. A natural "glove man" his marked hitting improvement in 1958 picks him out as a youngster with a major league potential.

BEN VALENZUELA . . . A thoroughly seasoned infielder who at 25 has had eight years of professional experience. Third base is his regular position, but he can play anywhere around the infield. A native Mexican, he has been playing professionally since 1951, and was obtained by the Giants in a trade with the St. Louis Cardinals during the past winter. Played in the Cardinal system at Fresno, Houston and Omaha, and had a very successful season at Omaha in 1958. Hit .284 in 126 games and knocked in 72 runs. A steady-going every day player, he has impressed with the consistent quality of his play.
